

savour its

Simplify Your Spring

As you rotate the wine in your cellar and spices in your kitchen during spring's perennial time of renewal, get help to reduce your clutter and blossom into a new sense of order.

By Roslyne Buchanan

STRICTLY CELLARS

Dedicated to wine preservation and vintage care for enthusiasts and the hospitality industry, John and Brenda Domerchie, owners/operators, represent select products "to enhance the enjoyment of the vintages you serve and keep".

Customers' priorities are analyzed to develop the best solution, balancing an attractive space with the client's budget for wine. If a homeowner wants to add a cellar, Strictly Cellars designs and provides the appropriate racking system or uses specialized contractors for installation. It also works with homebuilders during construction to conceive a tailored-made cellar. Its three levels of racking systems include kit, modular and custom models priced from $2 per bottle stored to $7.50 or higher.

Strictly Cellars works with wineries such as Oliver Twist to design its wine boutique display system and Greata Ranch for its show-home cellar. However, John says the majority of business is entry-level cellars which he affectionately labels "cheap and cheerful."

Its website offers wine accessories, advice on preservation and display, and links to wine news and events.

5B, 1873 Spall Rd, Kelowna, B.C.
Mon-Fri 9:00 am-5:00 pm Sat by appointment
250-448-7225 Toll Free 1-866-448-7225
strictlycellars.com

IRON VINES METAL WORKS

For that one-of-a-kind artistic spin in your wine storage, Dave Holt will handcraft an original wine rack. These inspired blacksmithing pieces are handmade, powder coated and finished with high quality sealed granite making them ideal for use in or outdoors.

Capturing images of the vineyard with grapes, vines and flowers incorporated into sturdy storage units, these elegant racks are priced from $80 for a one-bottle display to $1,250 and up for a granite table/shelf unit. Formerly with his brother Darren at Memories in Metal in Alberta, Dave moved to the Okanagan to establish Iron Vines Metal Works. View these creations in the Penticton VQA Wine Information Centre, Kelowna and Penticton farmers' markets, and on the website. Or contact Dave to design a wine rack or other storage system such as a jewellery tree customized to your taste.

By appointment
2319 Sunvale Pl., Okanagan Falls, B.C.
250-460-0355
ironvinesmetalworks.com

